Atama wine

Our Icon is the Chilean Corralero, a true Chilean national breed horse. Native of the pampas, this horse has a reputation for long-distance endurance. At Atama wines, we like to be inspired by the Corralero and our wines reflect the genuine taste of the Chilean soils and climates.

Vineyards : located in Valle Central. The Valle is stretching from the Maipo Valley (just south of Santiago) to the southern end of the Maule Valley.

Ageing : French and American oak.

Tasting notes

Eye - This is a ruby red wine of a good intensity with crimson reflections surrounding a mauve shade at the edge of the glass. This wine has kept its youthful colour. A bright, clear and well concentrated bottle.

Nose - At the nose this wine exudes youth. Fruity notes are dominated by blackcurrants and blueberries. A note of age appears with the aromas of cardamom, wood and smoke, beautifully blended with the fruitiness. Aeration brings the notes of plum and violet to this delight. A strong and full flavoured wine.

Palate - This wine has all the flavours sensed at the nose, brought about with a fruity opening and followed by an acidic, tannic structure. This is a fresh and virile wine. The fresh notes of black fruits are delicious, and the spicy touches of pepper bring a warm edge.
